

Love at first cite

With your LexisNexis Student Associate

Hi everyone!

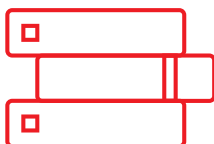

My name is Sam, and I'm your LexisNexis Student Associate - which means I'm here to help you.

LexisNexis is the leading legal global database. It is one-hundred and fifty times the size of Wikipedia, trusted by industry professionals globally. LexisNexis is an extremely socially responsible company, advancing the rule of law between nations. Its research platforms are super efficient, simple to use, and can make life as a law student much easier.

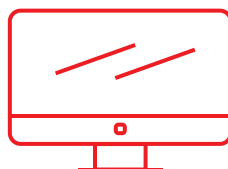

I'll be running clinics, training sessions, and certifications for the use of the platform. With many of these sessions being held digitally, you'll be able to upskill from the comfort of home! Not only will your future employers be impressed (96 out of 100 of the UK top law firms use LexisNexis!), but great legal research skills will help you efficiently prepare for tutorials, write great essays, and win moots.

Interested? Reach me through LinkedIn, send me an email, or just stop me in the corridor! I'm available to answer any LexisNexis related questions, and can organise for you to attend one of our certification sessions.

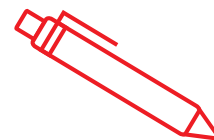

See you soon!

Stay ahead

Get certified

Enhance your CV

Sam Ingleton

✉ sam.ingleton@googlemail.com

📘 /LexisNexisStudents